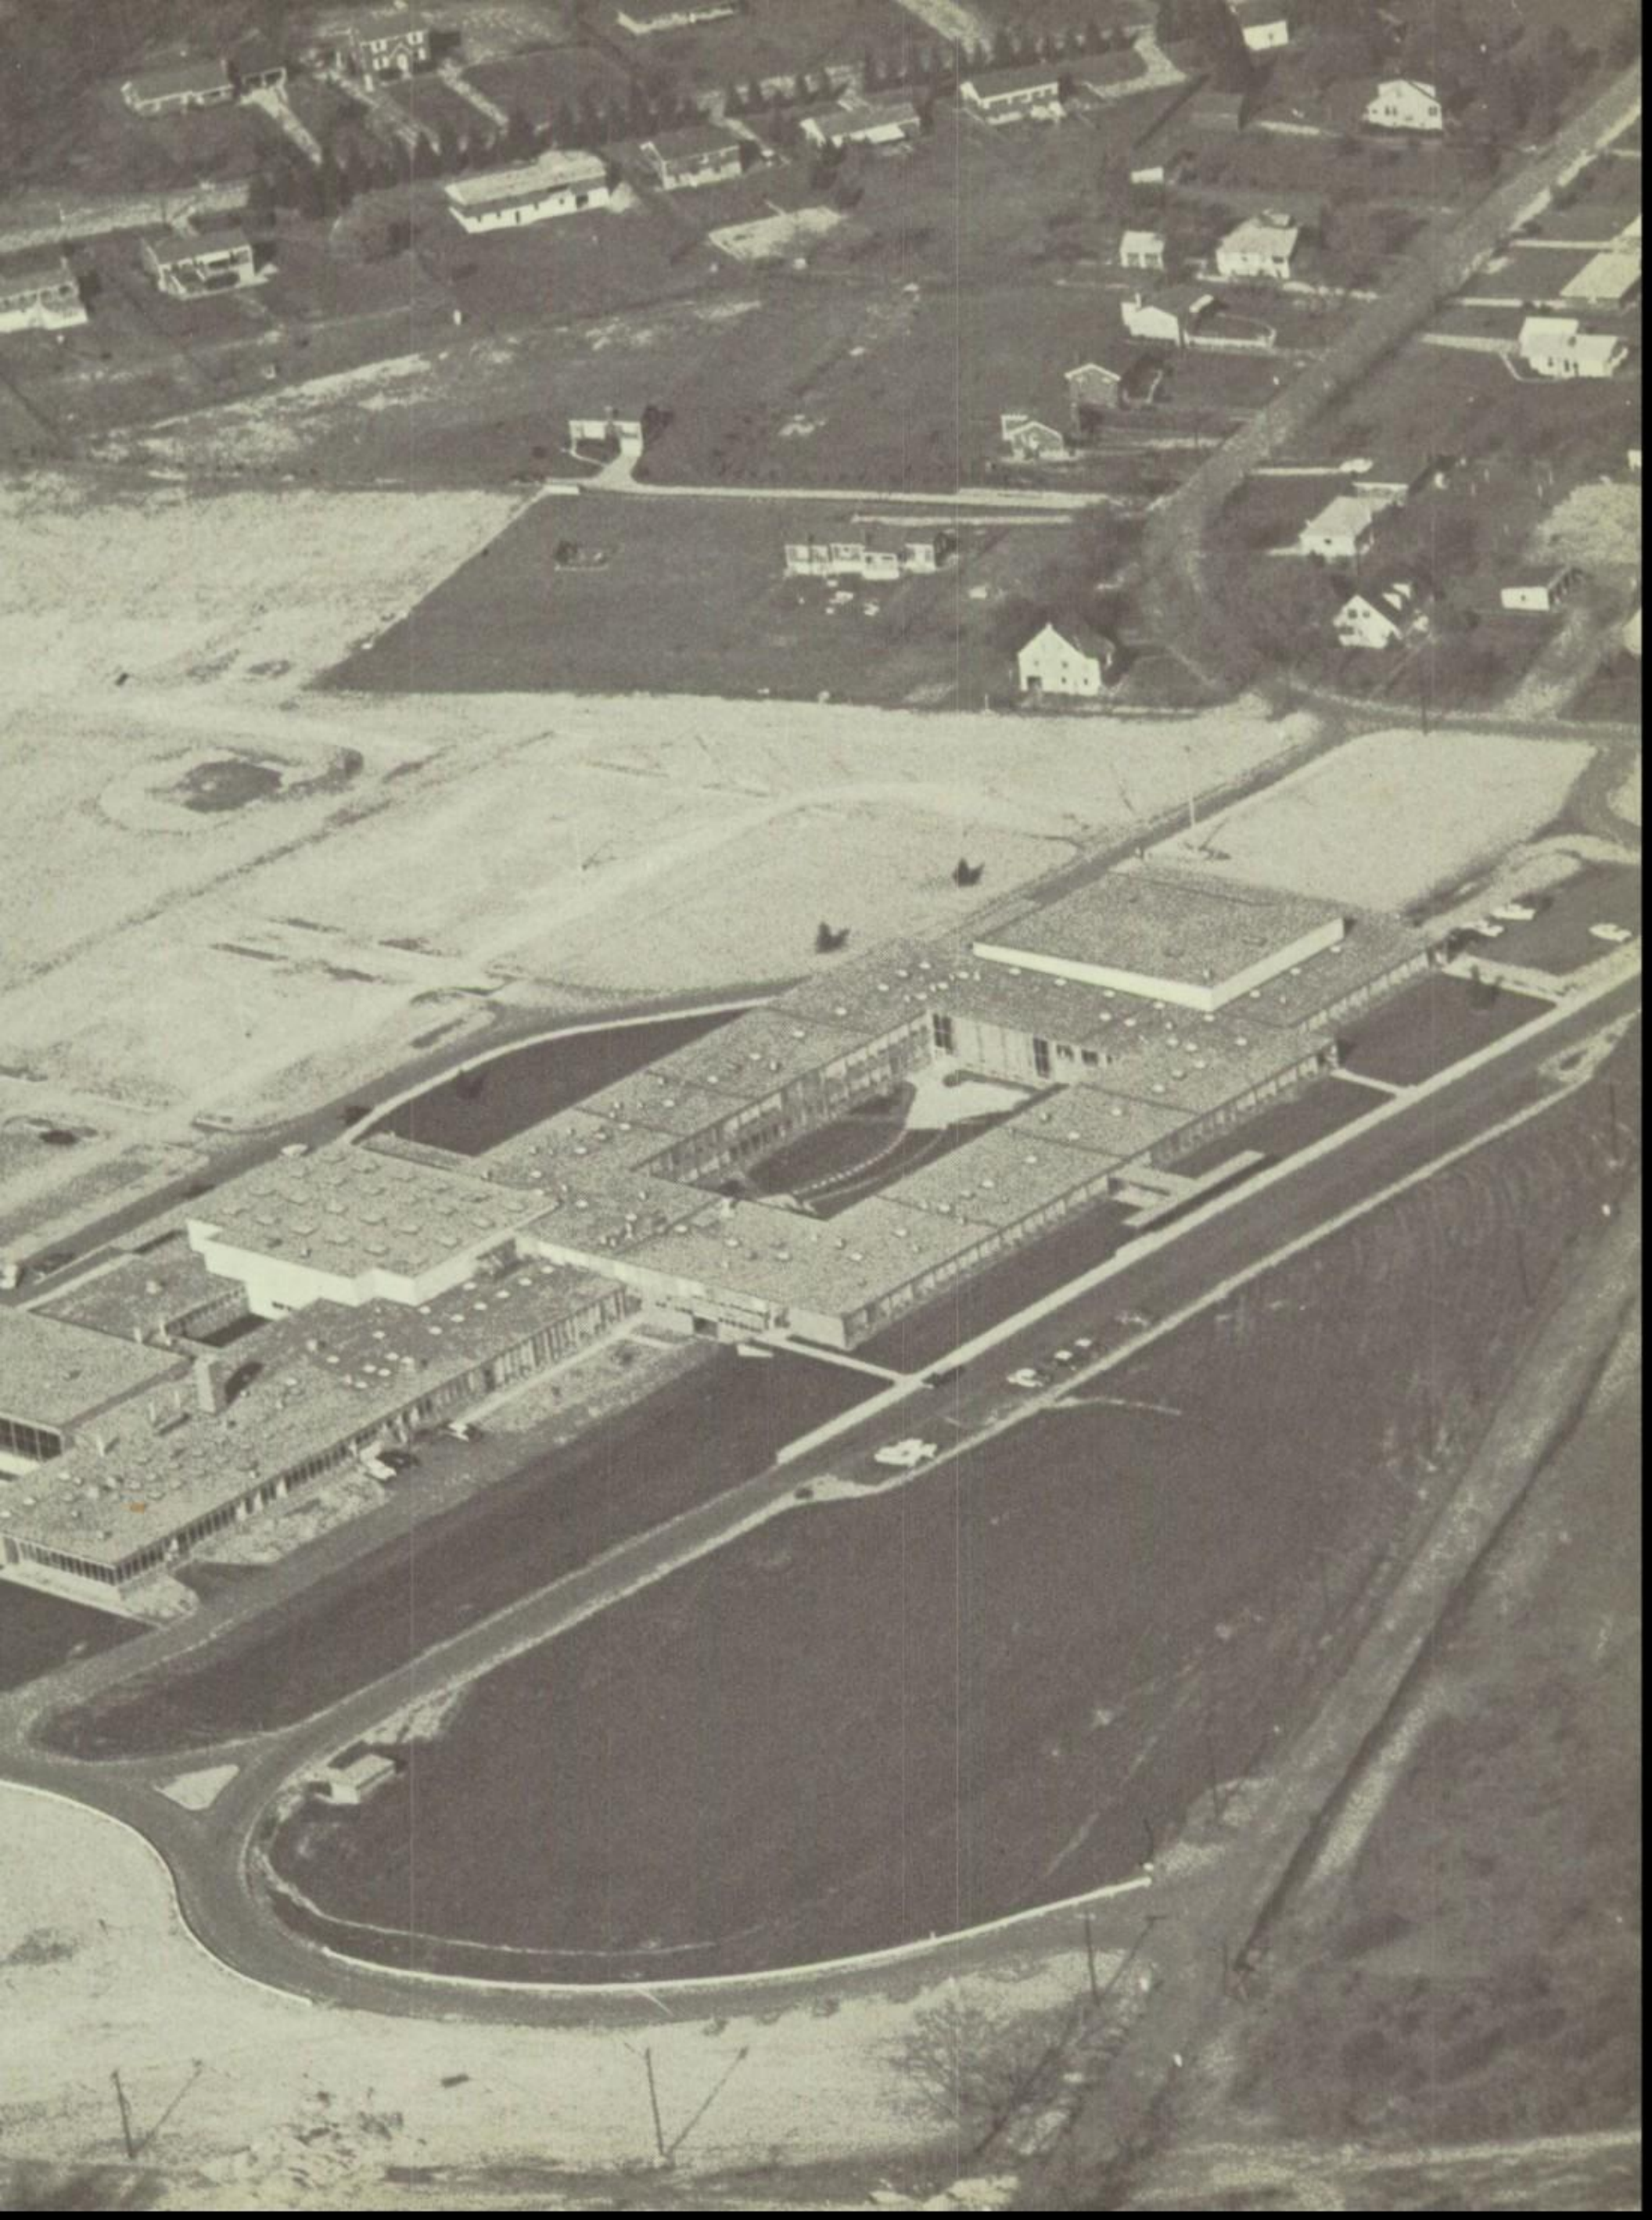
Renard



Why are we here?

Are we fulfilling our purpose?

Are we taking advantage of the unlimited opportunities which lie just a few steps forward, through these new doorways?

Are we seeing and appreciating the educational facilities by which we are surrounded every day?

Do we each try to contribute something to our student body and school?

Are we striving to improve ourselves as individuals?

Are we opening new doorways to the future and closing, yet not forgetting, doorways from the past?

The Faculty

Dedication

Education does not depend entirely upon the school building. If the student has earnestly endeavored to learn and has had the benefit of instruction by good teachers, he will earn a good education whether his classes have been held in a one-room schoolhouse or a multi-million dollar structure.

We, the students of Fox Chapel High School, are indeed fortunate in that we have a modern, well-equipped school building. The building is furnished with excellent athletic equipment, a fine library, language labs, and spacious classrooms. Most important, however, are the excellent faculty and administration.

These dedicated people are faced with the tremendous responsibilities of developing the philosophies and adding to the knowledge of the future leaders of the nation. They have seen us enter high school as carefree adolescents, unconcerned with the world beyond our own immediate interests, and leave as reasonably mature adults, ready to accept our share of the world's responsibilities. They have encouraged us in our endeavors concerning our futures. They have set shining examples for us to follow. They have enkindled within us the love for truth and knowledge which will aid us in our development as mature human beings.

This, the first volume of Renard, is dedicated to the members of the faculty and administration, in recognition and appreciation of the important role they have played in our lives.

As we pass from the doorway of our high school years into the doorway of the future, we are confident that, because of their guidance, we will be able to participate successfully in the governing of our nation and the guiding of our next generation.

These few pages are devoted to a portfolio of pictures of our new school building. The scenes are bare of the lifeblood of any school, students, but the beauty of the building can still be observed. The spacious classrooms, modern offices, and restful faculty rooms characterize the goal of "only the best."

Our auditorium with seating for one thousand students is equipped with the most modern lighting and sound equipment to provide facilities for any kind of production. The auditorium is efficient as well as beautiful.

The biology department has the added attraction of a greenhouse and a "rat" room. The animal room is the headquarters for all students who are working on the cancer research project, while the greenhouse is the center of botanical observation and experimentation.

The outside entrance to the swimming pool is one of the most attractive sides of the building. It is highlighted by a blue and white mosaic panel.

Auditorium—scene of scholastic, musical, scientific, and athletic entertainment

Living room of the homemaking suite

The homemaking department has a new feature in addition to the cooking and sewing areas. This is the social living room where are held classes in home nursing, social living, and child care. Here also the home decoration classes put into practice their newly learned skills.

The cafeteria is the mecca of everyone at noon time. Because of the large student body, it is necessary for meals to be served in six shifts. This presents a problem for those teachers who have split class periods. The menu includes a complete plate lunch, and for those who do not want this, there is an a la carte table. Here one can buy such specialties as salads, sandwiches, and desserts. The stage at one end of the room has many uses. There groups can conduct meetings or present entertainment.

The graphic arts shop is only one part of the industrial department suite. Besides this room there are wood and metal shops and a mechanical drawing room. Fox Chapel wants to turn out well-rounded students, equipped to handle any situation, so this department plays an important role in attaining our academic goals.

Double classrooms serve a significant purpose in this school. The dividing curtain can be pushed back for study halls or for extra-large classes. There are three of these rooms. All these facilities for manual, academic, and recreational excellence help to create the complete "universal man" that Fox Chapel wants to produce.

In the middle of the school year, Mr. Mellott, the new guidance counselor, came to Fox Chapel and replaced Mr. Clark. He and Miss Hall advise the students in course studies and career selection. Skillful aid is given to those who plan further education, by use of numerous catalogues and testing materials. Individual interviews are given regularly to advise or answer any questions. Annually, they administer the P.S.A.T., giving a reliable preview to the all-important College Boards. Our two guidance counselors give invaluable service to our students.

After an absence from school, we are greeted st by Mr. Flick and Mrs. Van Pelt. Mr. Flick is in arge of drivers' education as well as the attendance fice. Mrs. Van Pelt is the school nurse. In case illness or injury in school Mrs. Van Pelt is close, al-ays ready to help. Students are permitted to go the Health Office if they do not feel well enough take part in class activities during school time. ysical exams and audio tests are also given in the alth office.

English

In the required English courses this year, students were shown that our language consists of more than verbs, nouns, adverbs, and adjectives. We were introduced to the great literature of our language—Silas Marner, Tale of Two Cities, and Julius Caesar, to mention only a few. Through our numerous book reports and class discussions, we amassed a great literary knowledge—or so we are told.

The major English project of the year for seniors was, of course, the senior theme. This project involved stacks of notecards, deadlines, and endless trips to the library.

Above all, who could forget his teacher's saying, "and for tomorrow, vocabulary words 100-175."

Students of Fox Chapel High School were very fortunate to have a fine library available this year. Various types of books were available for leisure reading. New reference books were a great asset in obtaining information for class work. Literature, history, fiction, and books of biographies appealed to all the students.

Two periods a week of lab work, a new addition this year, did much to enliven the science program at Fox Chapel. "Don't blow up the school! We haven't paid for it yet," was the cry often heard coming from the classroom as explosions and an occasional sweet (?) odor filled the halls.

The challenge provided by science proved so enjoyable that some consistently stayed after school to redo experiments.

A group of "rough" teachers did little to ease our mathematical pain. How can one relax when he is faced with knocking knees as he puts an algebra equation on the blackboard?

However, the class was brightened by such scientific activities as the making of geometrical Christmas tree decorations or the sewing of designs on cardboard.

Math is designed, so they say, to make one think. The ideas that some of us derived were amazing. Did you know that $2 + 2 = 6$? There must be "a fallacy in your reasoning."

The language lab was something new at Fox Chapel High School. Private booths for each student were of great value in trying to teach the students correct pronunciation of the foreign language. Each language teacher took his turn in sharing the language lab. Individual help could be given each student through use of this equipment. In this way, the teacher could tell who was progressing and who required more help. The language lab has proved quite successful.

Business

Office machines help the students to become better acquainted with the proper use of business apparatus. This course develops the fundamentals of operating various office calculating and transcribing machines. Filing is also included in this course, and enables the students to understand filing procedure. Taking turns operating these different machines gives the students a chance to gain worthwhile experience.

As the man on the TV commercial says, "She's learned a new word, 'Gentle'." It's a familiar expression in the girls' tumbling class. And now, which maiden has the best form? The one in the middle, of course. A famous old Chinese proverb says, "What goes up must come down." And down she came with a big bang. We needed a new camera anyway. Just think how graceful the girls will be in the future. Too bad we can show only one small phase of our tremendous physical education program.

Look at that form! Learning to swim and dive are just two phases of the boys' physical education program. Swimming is a favorite sport this year because we had been gazing at an empty pool for months. February third was the grand opening, as the underwater lights were connected and the pool was filled. Talk about country club atmosphere, we have it . . . diving boards, starting boxes, black dividing strips, and stadium benches. We are in business! Oh, yes, the girls get to use the pool once in a while too.

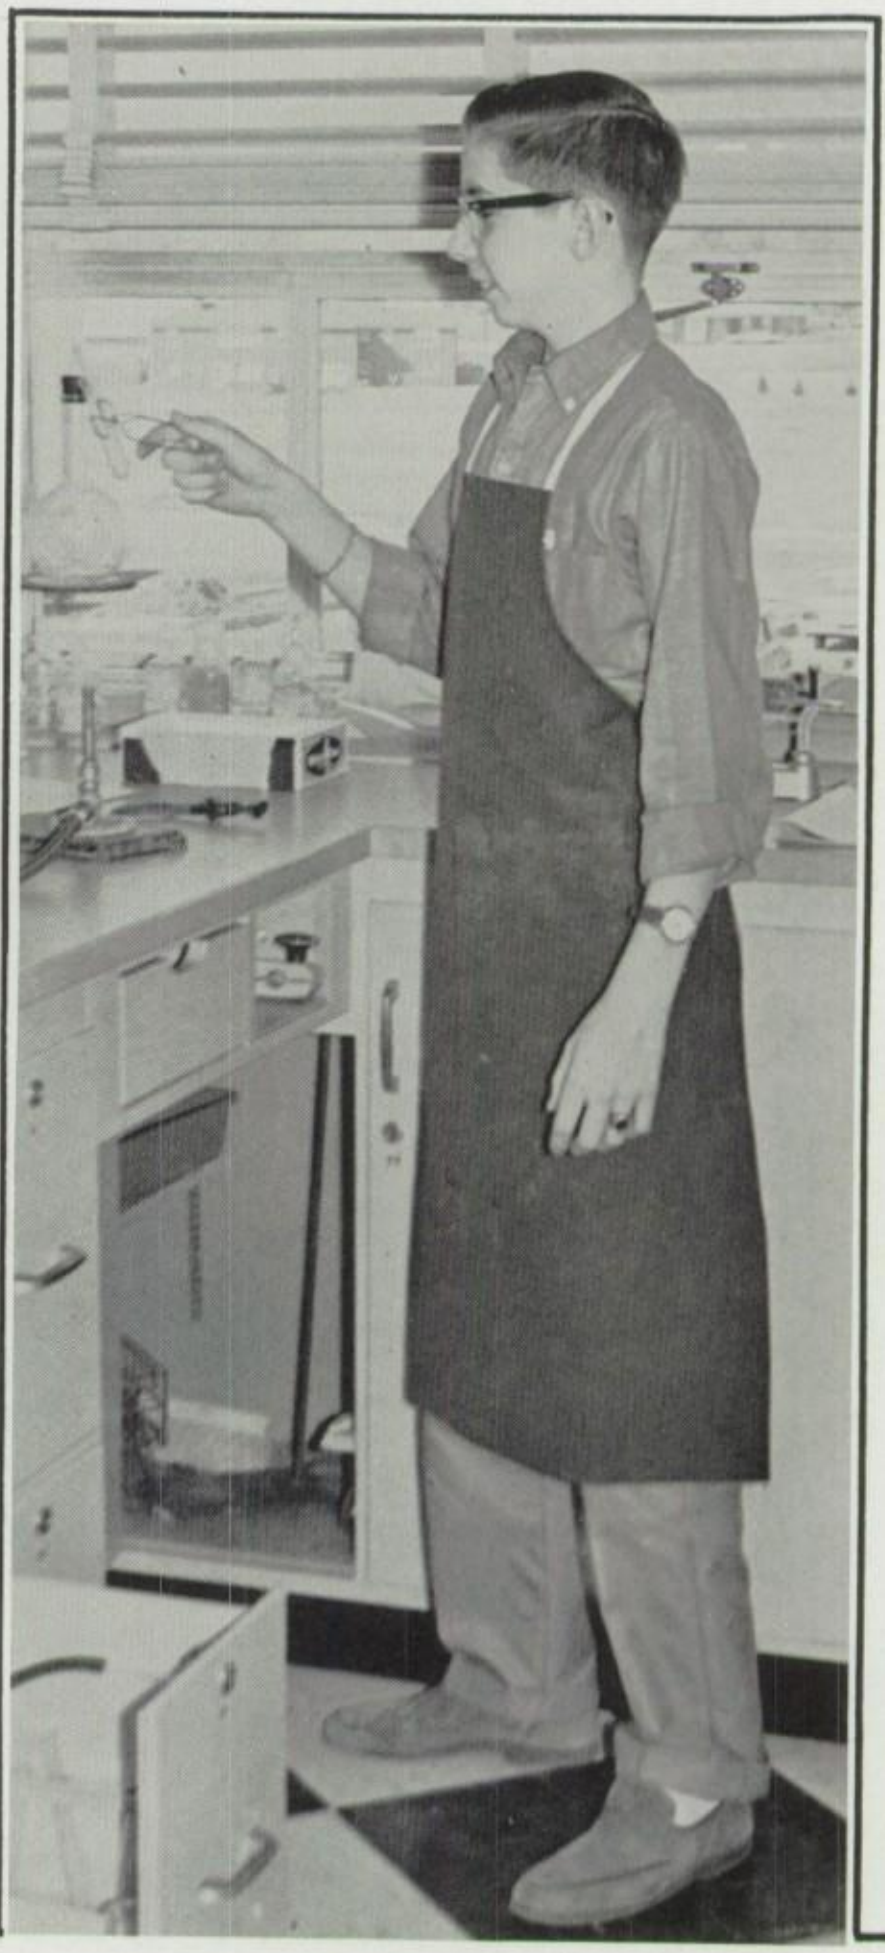
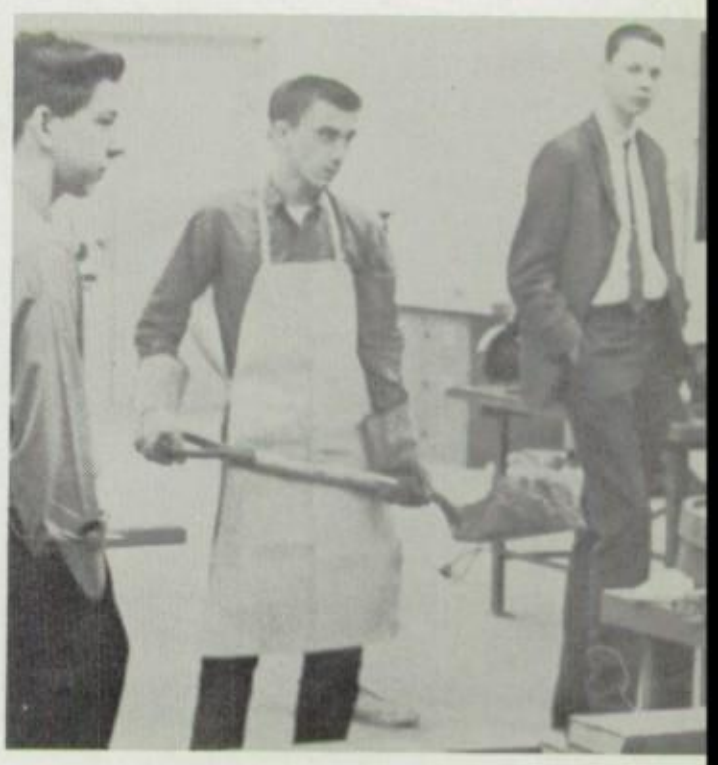
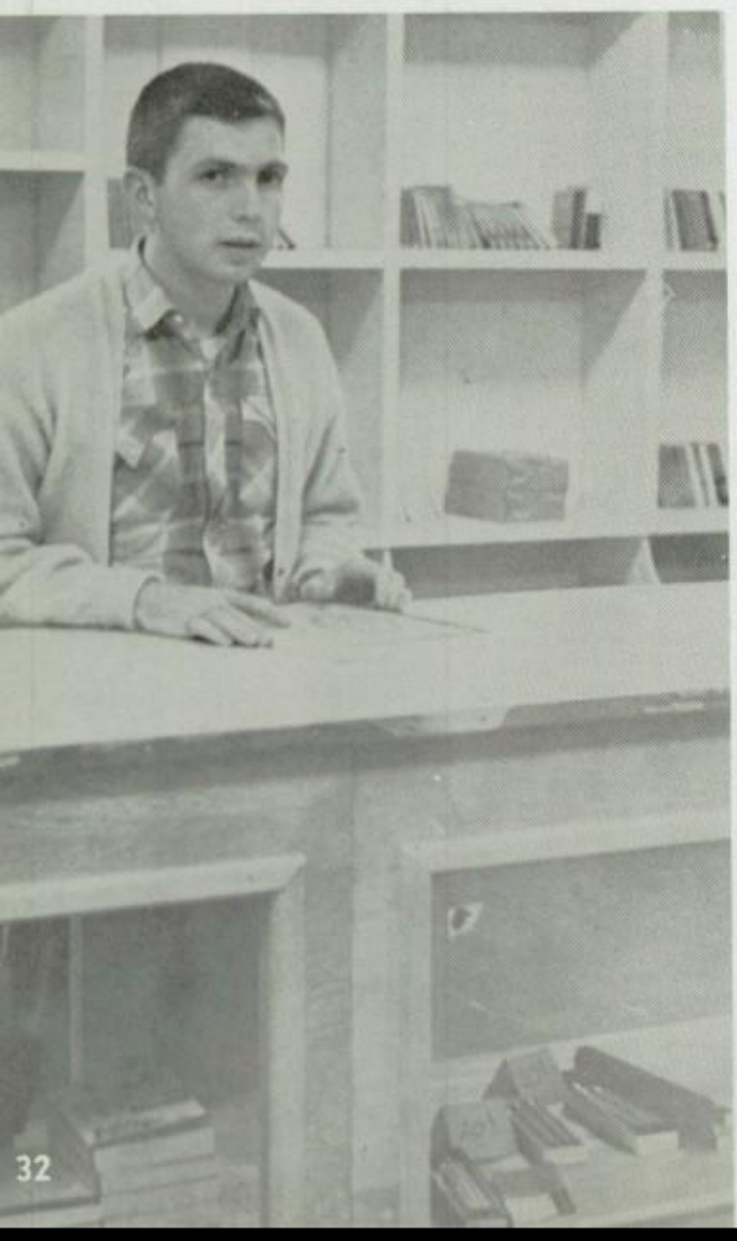
This unidentified electrician symbolizes the many craftsmen who were still at work when school opened.

Do you recall . . . the excitement of the first day in a brand new school . . . the endlessly long halls . . . the mix-up in the cafeteria schedule on the first day . . . the I.O.U.'s in the lunch line . . . those short, short skirts . . . the firebell as a signal to change classes . . . the girls' chic, red gym suits . . . the newspapers, maps, and construction paper used as window shades . . . contests to name the newspaper and yearbook . . . the sore noses, knees, and elbows after a session on the trampoline . . . the senior-sponsored student lounge . . . the Coke machines where students congregated after school . . . carrying home twenty pounds of books every night . . . making poetry notebooks . . . election of class officers . . . the opening of the swimming pool . . . the "soaked look" which the girls displayed after swimming class . . . the awards assembly . . . the long night before senior themes . . . "Ben Casey" blouses . . . the wild plaid pants of some of the boys . . . this was our first year.

CLASSES







As we now look at our serene, well-organized school, does anyone remember that first hectic day of mass confusion in the gym where everyone was assembled? Things have changed. Life has taken the orderly course of an efficient high school. Teachers instruct and students learn; but there is still time for Christmas dances, swimming meets, and basketball games. The "splash party" thrown by the swimming team after their only win, Mr. Boyle's anxious face during a crucial moment of a game, the wild exaltation when we won—all these helped to make the 1962 school year memorable. Not only the students but also the teachers had their gay times. Are Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hopkins really forced to carry those degrading wash buckets? From the beautiful but lifeless school of September we have grown and prospered. We have definitely arrived!

The Class of 1963

These officers, Karen Puskar, President; Neal Bartoletti, Vice-President; and Lawrence Claus, Secretary-Treasurer; helped organize an active junior class at Fox Chapel. The class planned and presented the delightful play "January Thaw" on April 6. The juniors sold Christmas cards to provide money to honor the seniors at the Prom. Lisa Arlotti had the honor of selling the largest number of cards. Aside from earning money, the juniors actively supported all the clubs and teams with good leadership and enthusiasm.

Many juniors this year had the enjoyment and advantages of using the new laboratory facilities in the chemistry classes to conduct various experiments, and in the process created the horrible odors of rotten eggs and ammonia which were detected in the halls during every period.

Several students participated in the cancer research project with other high schools and have made considerable advancements in their work. Some juniors, along with some sophomores and seniors participated in the annual chemistry contest sponsored by A. C. S. Fox Chapel ranked sixth of one hundred thirty-five participating schools.

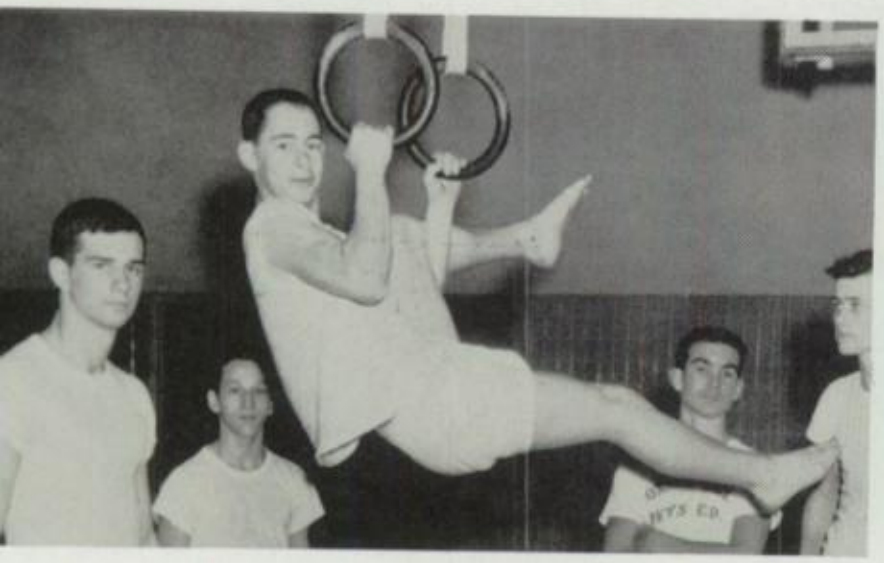
The car was entered in the contest sponsored by the sher Body Division of General Motors. The model was awarded e Junior Division Regional Prize. Besides artistic ability, juniors splayed universal ability in gymnastic pursuits.



The Class of 1964

The sophomore class officers this year were Chip Friday, President; Bill Matassoni, Vice-President; and Frank Burnett, Secretary-Treasurer. These students provided good leadership for the second largest class in the school which was responsible for "A Touch of Spring," the dance held in April.

Judy Wurmb and several others were hostesses for the dedication of our school where Dr. J. C. Warner of Carnegie Tech addressed the audience of over one thousand. After the ceremonies, the school was open so that visitors could take a complete tour of the new building.

Fox Chapel sophomores found the library a delightful place to study. The room was well lighted, the seats comfortable, and the reference shelves filled with the finest encyclopedias. Soft music was continually played, providing a pleasant atomophere for work. When the library first opened, the English classes were familiarized with the library.

One of the biggest spring events for the underclass girls was majorette try-outs. Prior to the judging, there were several practice sessions during which each of the senior majorettes directed a group of prospective twirlers.

The health office with Mr. Flick as attendance officer was the student's first stop upon returning to school after an absence. It was necessary for the student to present Mr. Flick with his excuse before being admitted into homeroom. During the winter, when the flu was the cause of many absences, the line of students outside the health office seemed to be endless.

The cheerful expressions on the faces of these sophomores suggests that they are boarding the school bus for home. Students of Fox Chapel were fortunate in that they were dismissed at two-thirty each day.

For the students' convenience, washbasins and paper towels were installed in the hallway outside the cafeteria. Across from them were the book racks where notebooks and books could be left while one was eating.

Ten students, most from the first year biology class, took part in the nature contest sponsored by and held at Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh. Miss Frey supervised the group in our school and helped them memorize the identification of all species of animals, insects, birds, trees, and rocks. Besides identification, general knowledge of biological facts was necessary in the written examination given on April 14.

The main project of the second-year Latin class was the banquet held in April. The second-year students planned the menu, entertainment, and decorations for the feast, and the first-year students were the slaves. Everyone dressed appropriately in togas and tunics.

Getting out of their togas, students who had not learned to swim previously were given an opportunity to learn in the non-swimmers classes held in the evenings. The number of non-swimmers was small, and the physical education teachers were able to give individual attention to the boys and girls. All agreed that they had been fortunate to be given a chance to learn to swim.

The Class of 1965

The freshman class officers were Carol Jones, President; Bill Cordisco, Vice-President; and Dan Green, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. White acted as their adviser.

Freshmen Charles Grazioli and Sam Dillon worked for three months to construct "Max The Mechanical Man" for entry in the Buhl Planetarium Fair. "Max" could raise his arms, move on rollers, and light up his eyes. Mr. Edinger, Science Club sponsor, advised the boys.

Among the projects which were an important part of freshman biology was the making of birdhouses and birdfeeders. The students found that these projects helped them both to better understand the habits of birds and to be more observant.

Home economics is undoubtedly one of the most valuable and interesting courses offered at Fox Chapel, as the freshman girls discovered. The homemaking suite is well-equipped with modern machines on which the girls can learn to sew and, at the same time, enlarge their wardrobes.

English was the favorite class of many freshmen due to Mr. White's interesting presentations. The students enjoyed making their poetry notebooks on various topics and giving many talks in class. Mr. White encouraged them to read widely, a habit which they will carry into later years.

The freshmen who worked on the yearbook were valuable additions to the staff. While they contributed to this year's publication, they gained experience which will enable them to qualify for positions on the staff in future years.

One of the freshmen's favorite teachers, Mr. Meals, taught first year Algebra. Room 204 was crowded every day after school with students who didn't understand the day's lesson. Mr. Meals was always willing to help. The course was different from elementary math, and the freshmen found it challenging.

The students' favorite half-hour was lunch time. The cafeteria offered a hot plate-lunch every day and also a wide array of sandwiches, salads, and desserts on the a la carte line. Lunchtime offered a break in the middle of a class.

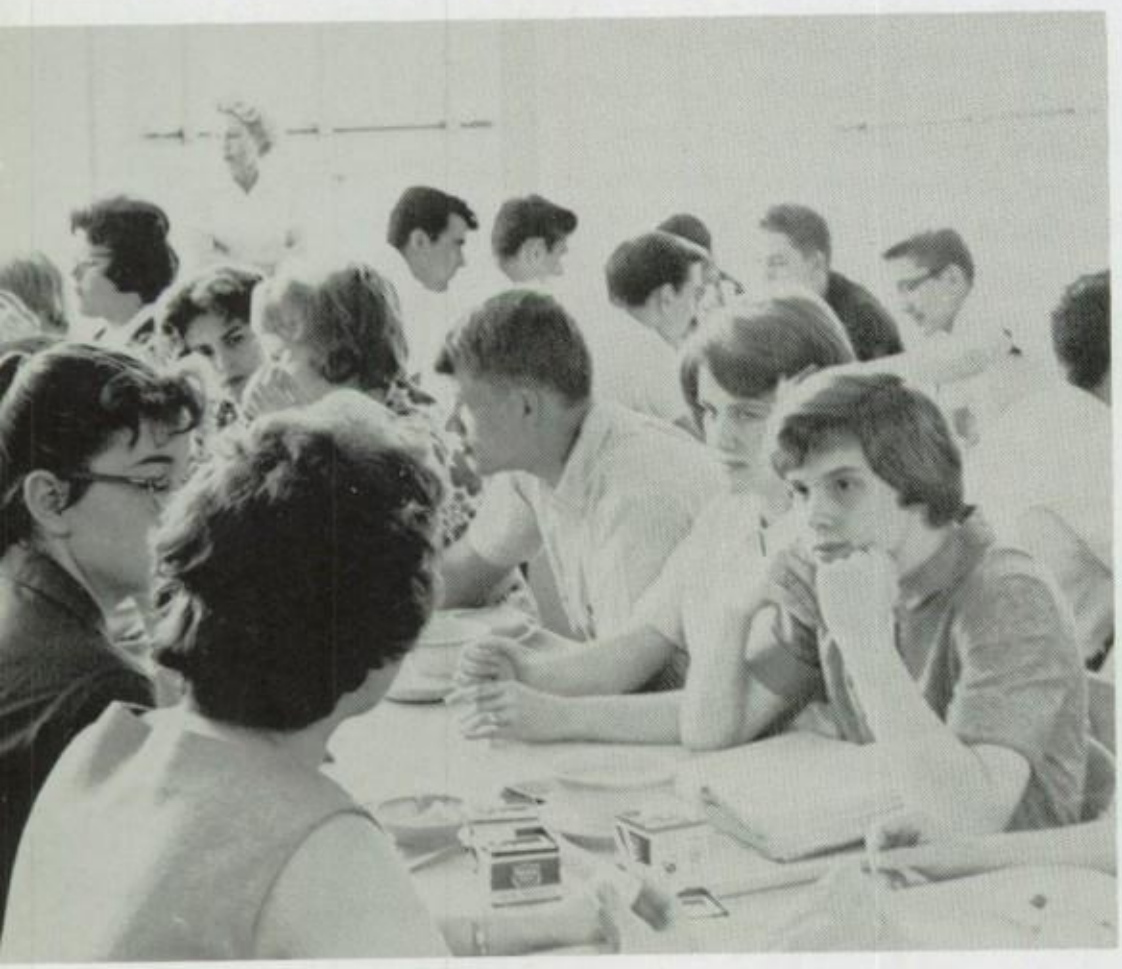
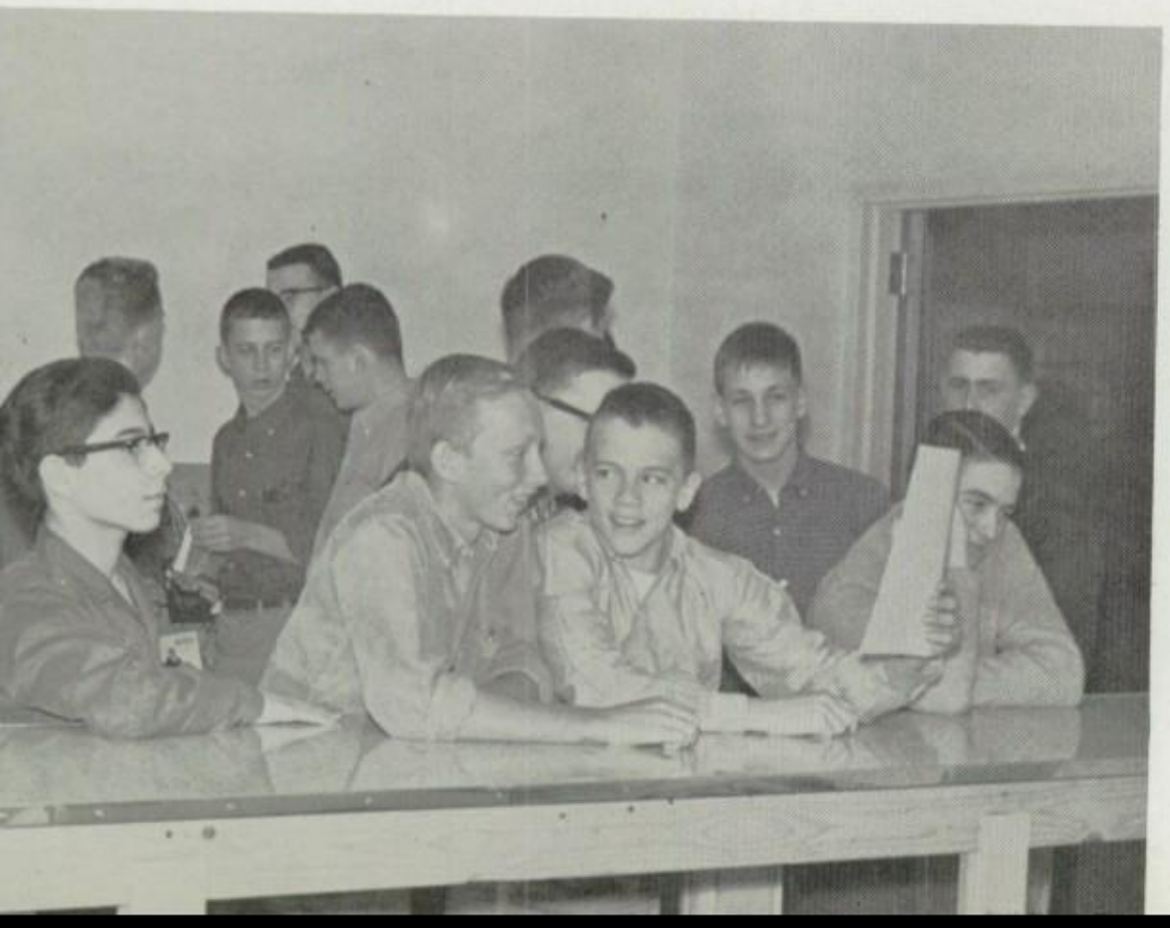
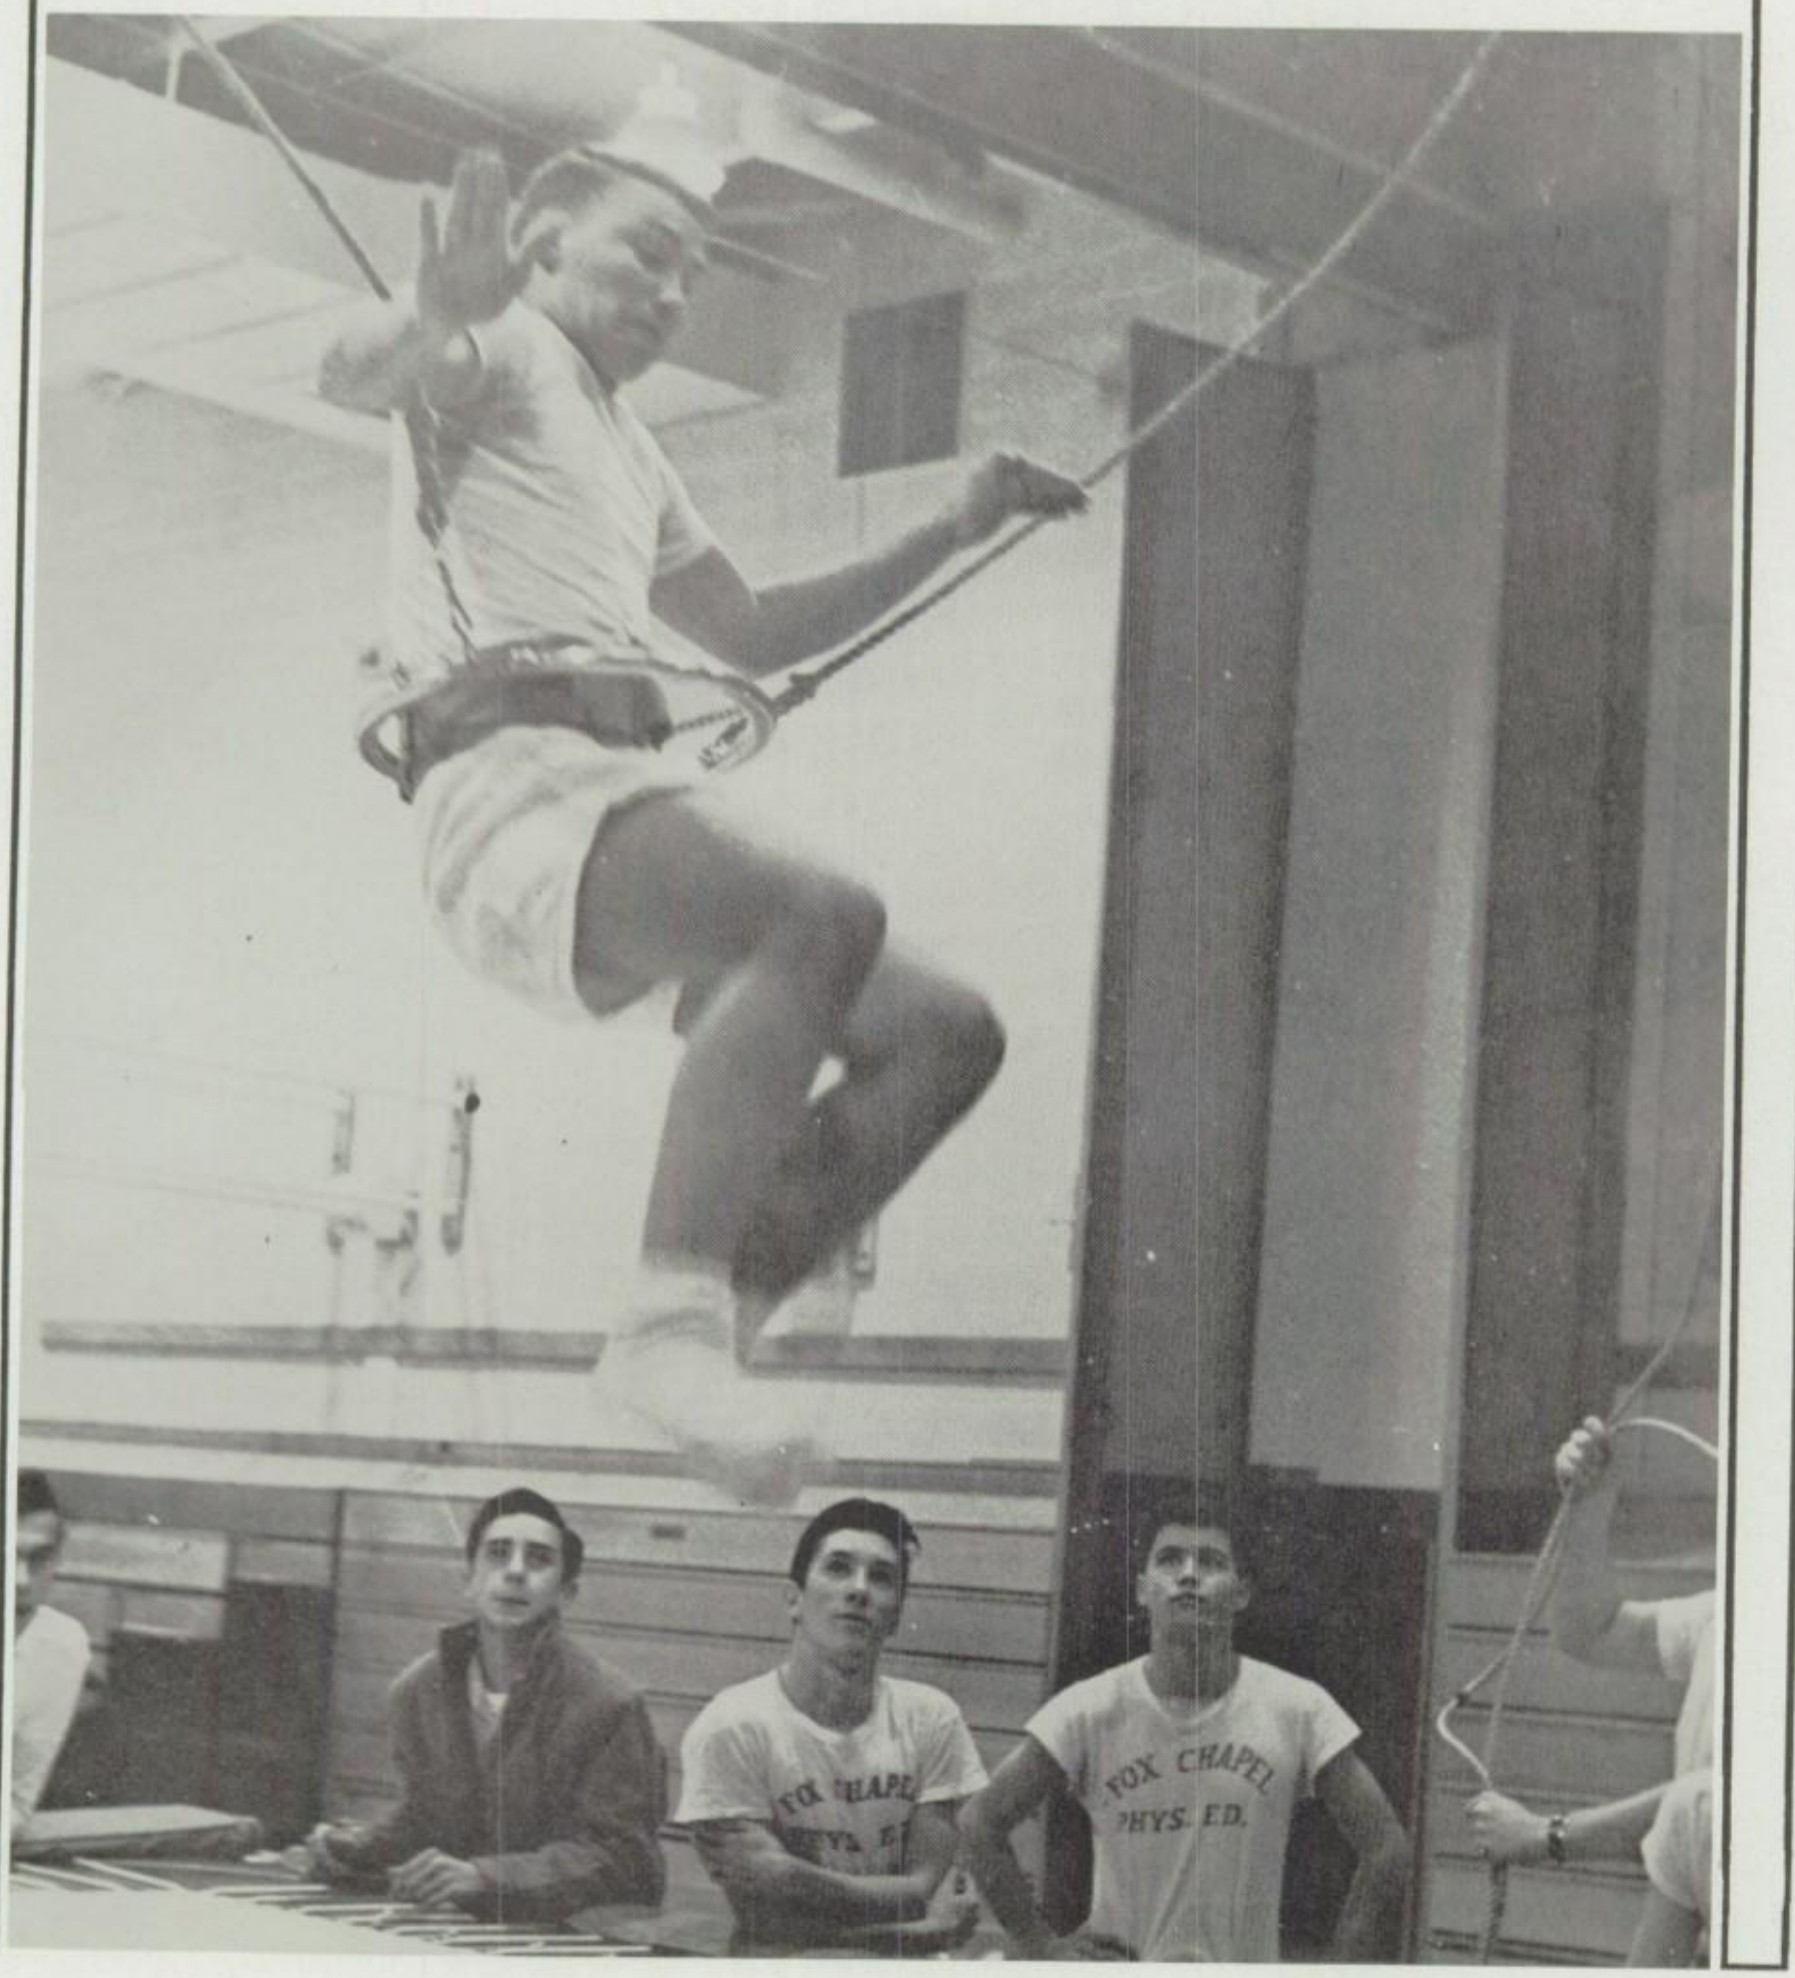
His enthusiasm, loyalty, and joyful attitude will never be forgotten. He fought the good fight; he finished the race; he kept the faith.





Can we ever forget . . . the nervous tension of the first football game of the season . . . the confetti showering down on our heads . . . the seemingly endless pep and enthusiasm of the cheerleaders . . . the suspense of waiting for the first down signal . . . our exciting season with Fox Chapel's first basketball team . . . Al's well-known jump shots . . . Mr. Lindsay's frequent huddles with the team . . . the suspense as the score was tied with only a few minutes left to play . . . cheering on our fighting swimming team . . . watching Chipper splash on to victory . . . the girls' swimming team in their new red tank suits, making their debut against Mt. Lebanon . . . Mr. Meals's triumphant entrance in the faculty game . . . hearing the crack of the .22's after school at rifle practice in the new range . . . seeing the weary, muddy soccer players return after a rugged workout . . . all these memories and many more will remain with us when we think of our first year at F.C.H.S.!

SPORTS



Fox Chapel's first season, though not auspicious, was an important one. We like to think of this past football season as one of "foundation." The development of new skills and techniques was stressed by the coaching staff. A team of championship caliber the first year of a new school was not to be expected.

The boys must be praised for their drive and determination. Our record alone should not be used as a measure of the team's performance. They lost some of their games by a single point or by one touchdown.

Coaches Kennedy, Bonzani, and Majernik worked with the boys from the first summer practice until the final game with Plum. Because of their physical conditioning, the team was able to finish the season with a minimum of injuries.

Among the seniors who deserve special credit are Dan Douthitt, who received the Most Valuable Player Award; Wes Anderson, defensive linebacker; Sam Liptak, lineman; John Ward, end; Art Bolton, tackle; Bill Wilcox, halfback; Mike Prewitt, and Jim Redenbaugh, defensive captain. Dave Dowler, the team manager, was the man on the sidelines who kept the boys going.

Freshman Football

This year the freshman football team was jointly coached by Mr. Mason and Mr. Scholtz. The team scheduled and played five games, winning one, losing three, and tying one. Although the record isn't too impressive, a great deal was accomplished this year. Again, as it was with most activities this year, organizing was a big problem.

During the final week of the season, the freshmen practiced with Mr. Kennedy's varsity team. These scrimmages were held to help determine the potential for next year. The final red-white game was held on a brisk sub-freezing day.

These boys have their work cut out for them as Fox Chapel will be classified as an "A" school in the 1962 season.

Varsity Basketball

In its first varsity season at the new Fox Chapel High School, Coach Al Lindsay's hoopsters showed a fine section record of 12-2. Although they lost the section crown by one game, the team displayed good sportsmanship and fine team play at all times. The basketball team got off to a typical, shaky start in the exhibition games, but began to find the range when the section play started. The Foxes swept aside the first nine opponents with relative ease and it looked like clear sailing to finish as 19-B champs. But in the second half of section play against Verona, the flu-ridden Foxes were completely out-played by a determined Verona quintet led by Gary Lyle. This loss coupled with Oakmont's win, knotted the section lead. In the tie breaking game with Oakmont, the Foxes stayed close through three quarters, but a comparatively cold night by Fox Chapel and some good shooting by Oakmont's Goodrich and Carlberg brought defeat. Oakmont went on to win the section but was defeated by last year's W.P.I.A.L. "B" champion, Ft. Cherry. Because of the enrollment increase, Fox Chapel has been classified as an "A" school for the ensuing year. The team will face tough competition with one returning letterman and others from the varsity squad. Coach Lindsay hopes he can rely on replacements from the sophomore or junior varsity basketball teams.

The Foxes grapple for a lost ball.

The Junior Varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Homer Mason, got off to a fine start this year. They ended with a fine 15-5 record. In the all-important Section 19 games, the J.V.'s lost only once, to West Deer. Their fine record and excellent skill, easily made them the finest junior varsity team in the section.

Although they lacked height, the forwards rebounded well and scored steadily. This, plus fine play-making and outside shooting from the guards proved to be a winning combination. In addition to rebounding and scoring, good defense was stressed by Mr. Mason.

All of the boys on the team worked hard at daily practice sessions and played their best in the games. Mr. Mason and his Junior Varsity team should be congratulated for a fine season. They will form the nucleus for next year's varsity team in Class A competition.

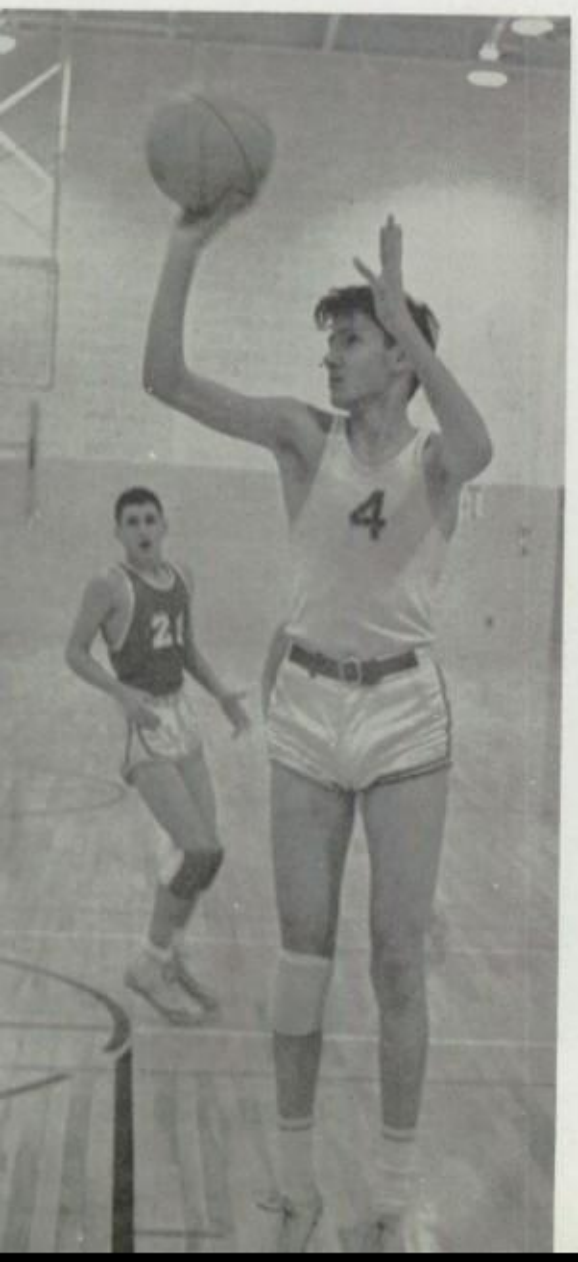
Freshman Basketball



In the 1962 season the Fox Chapel freshman hoopsters were coached by Mr. Edward Boyle. The fundamentals of team play and the basic individual skills were primarily stressed this season.

The freshman squad got off to a rather poor start. The boys suffered a disappointing 26 to 25 defeat at the hands of the West Deer team. This was the only game West Deer won all year. This defeat only served to fire the team with more determination than ever.

In the final game of the season, the Foxes faced East Deer for the freshman section championship. East Deer led by a slight margin at the end of the first quarter. By the end of the first half the freshman five had turned the tables and now led by one point. With the buzzer at the end of the third quarter the Foxes led by eight points. Walking, fouling, and charging violations plagued the Foxes in the final period. East Deer took full advantage of the situation and when the final buzzer sounded the Foxes had gone down in a disheartening 37 to 36 defeat.

Needless to say, the freshmen who played on this year's squad are looking forward to junior varsity play. Mr. Mason, the junior varsity coach, has already begun to work with several of the boys for next year.

"On your mark!"

The boys' swimming team got off to a very auspicious start. The first half of the season the boys practiced in the Vets' pool, for the high school pool had not been completed. The boys worked hard, some of them practicing twice a day. Under the guidance of Mr. Grindle, a hardened team evolved by the end of the season. The record was not good—one win as compared with seventeen defeats—but the boys gained much experience, and the prospects for next season are good. Mike Oram and J. T. Oram served as co-captains of the team. Chipper Friday proved outstanding, and the team looks for his return next fall. By virtue of his performance at Bucknell University, he is now the seventh fastest fifty-yard freestyler in the state of Pennsylvania.

As only three boys have graduated, a nucleus of experienced swimmers will add depth to next year's squad. Mr. Grindle was ably assisted by Mr. Bolt, who coached the junior varsity team, and the leadership of these men is looked forward to next year.

The soccer team, coached by Mr. Boyle and Mr. Flick, placed fifth in the W. P. I. L. League. A lack of experience, not a lack of determination, accounted for the record of two wins, seven losses, and one tie. At the beginning of the season the team was defeated by South Fayette and Chartiers Valley. The first bright moment of the season was the Foxes' coming from behind to tie Snowden, 3-3, on Fox Chapel's home field. That very week the team saw its first victory, over Monongahela. For their next contest the team traveled to Harmerville to play Springdale, considered by many the best team in the league. That day the Foxes suffered their third defeat.

The second half of the season began slowly with three consecutive defeats. The fourth game was indeed the high point of the season, for Monongahela once more was defeated. For the last game of the season, Springdale traveled to Kerr School for a second contest with the Foxes and again defeated the first soccer team of Fox Chapel High School.

FRESHMAN SOCCER TEAM

In the fall of 1961, while the Fox Chapel football team was making its debut, another much smaller pack of Foxes was roaming the countryside—the freshman soccer team. These Foxes did not act in the traditional manner; they took great delight in seeing a fellow comrade covered with mud and his newly washed shorts powdered with "Tuff Skin." Accidents were commonplace, but fortunately most of them were minor. Two of the most spectacular ones were Andy Marks' injured ankle and Bob Walters' cockeyed nose.

The Foxes' coach, Mr. Flick, should be given the credit due him. Every member of the team, it is certain, benefited in more ways than one from the effort and time which Mr. Flick put into the sport. Mr. Flick's team was not a "world-beater," yet the school has profited from the team's experiences, for its members will some day comprise the Fox Chapel soccer team.

This year Miss McCrum's rifle team compiled a season record of 6 wins and 3 losses. The year brought many moments of excitement. The section championship ended in a three way tie among Fox Chapel, Butler, and Shaler. After the scoring of the first five targets, Shaler and we were tied at 499. To break the tie, it was necessary to score the sixth target; finally on the eighth target the tie was broken. Shaler was the winner with the final score of 796-795. Another high-light of the season occurred when Fred Seifried, Jim Lawrence, and Dave Mochel all shot 10 hundreds in a match against Shaler.

Tennis

Our tennis team, consisting of ten members, was coached by Mr. Robert Gerhart. The team practiced and played their matches on the Shadyside Academy courts, for the Fox Chapel courts had not been completed. The season got off to a good start when the Foxes defeated Penn Hills, 3-2. The team was composed of four seniors; Biff Williams, Jim Redenbaugh, Pat Bush, and Steve Radcliffe; one junior, Jim Oram; two sophomores; Paul Nicholson and Pete Dixon; and three freshmen; Daric Ebert, Blair McMillen, and Bill Monteverde.

The girls' swimming team was coached by Mrs. Grindle. This team was unique in that the girls worked on two entirely different types of swimming, competitive and synchronized. They participated in two competitive swim meets, one against Bethel and the other against Mt. Lebanon. The big event in synchronized swimming was the preparation and presentation of the water show, "Camelot." This show was produced with the cooperation of several members of the boys' swimming team.

The girls' basketball team was coached jointly by Miss Hennon and Miss Shepler. The girls finished the season with a 3 and 4 record. The team will be hurt by the loss of eight graduating seniors. A very close game between Fox Chapel and St. Mary's preceded the High Hoopers' benefit game.

Without the pep and vitality of the cheerleaders, much would have been missing in all the sports at Fox Chapel. All the cheerleaders started practicing last summer to perfect the cheers and add new ones to their roster. The varsity cheerleaders, headed by Jane Whalen, consisted of nine girls. Besides Jane the seniors were Gail Jacobs, Karen Goshorn, and Pam Walzer. Juniors on the squad were Charlene Payne and Valerie Powell. The sophomores included Diana Telling, Judy Rohe, and Judy Wurmb. The junior varsity cheerleaders added immensely to the good season of the freshman football and junior varsity basketball games. They were Sandy Daily, Judy Bechtel, Cathy Koch, Joanne Gibbs, Toni Damico, and Mimi Kight. The freshman cheerleaders were Candy Best, Patty Bradley, Ginny Ference, Jackie Hart, Marjorie Hofer, and Carol Martineck. They cheered at the freshman soccer and basketball games. All these girls worked hard all year to be worthy of the honor of being cheerleaders and added to the spirit of the school. They were one of the best assets Fox Chapel had.

Intramural activities were new to many of the students. Basketball teams were organized in the various home rooms. Through elimination play-offs, the field was narrowed down to several teams. In the finals, the boys of Room 202 provided superior play and won the intramural title. Next year it is hoped that the program can be enlarged to include softball and swimming competition.

The gymnastics team, sponsored by Mr. Boyle, presented the Gym Show. The various participants demonstrated both basic and extremely difficult skills on the apparatus. The profits from the gym show will be used to provide for a gym assembly featuring The Slippery Rock Gymnastics Team.

In conjunction with the wrestling program taught in the physical education classes, a wrestling tournament was held with the interested boys participating. Mr. Flick and Mr. Boyle instructed the boys in the various skills and rules of high school wrestling. It is possible that a competitive wrestling team may be organized next year.

embers of the O'Hara Township Women's Club pregh School flags. At this assembly two traditions gan—that of the seniors leaving the auditorium first d of the students rising when presented to a dis-guished guest. For these courtesies, the students

Fox Chapel High have been commended.

Later assemblies included a program of musical

The gym was the scene of many pep rallies, inding an interesting skit presented by a group of der the direction of Mr. Boyle, presented a program roducing wrestling to the student body.

There were also several science assemblies which tured films and demonstrations of rockets, outer

The Student Council, under the supervision of Mr. Hague, met on alternate Thursdays throughout the year. The organization sponsored buses for athletic "away" games, the bookstore, and the "High Hoopers" basketball game.

The KQV disc jockeys were invited to play on Jan. 29; the faculty team which included Mr. Scholtz, Mr. Gerhart, Mr. Boyle, and Mr. Hague. Despite one bloody nose, several falls, and many kicks in the shins, the team's 100-68 victory proved that the F.C.H.S. Faculty members had outstanding athletic, as well as professional, abilities.

All the clubs were chartered by the Student Council. The clubs presented their charters which were accepted by members of the Student Council before the club could function.

The library assistants aided Mrs. Reichart and Miss Deveney by accepting library passes, checking our books, dusting books, returning books to their proper shelves, and making posters.

The Chess Club was under the direction of Mr. Makowski. The members competed against one another and kept records of results of the games. Plans for next year include the organization of a chess team which will compete against the teams of other area schools.

The Future Teachers Club visited the Boyd Elementary and Aspinwall Junior High Schools to observe the techniques employed by the teachers. In their informal sessions with Miss Hall, their sponsor, the students discussed disciplinary measures, salaries, and colleges.

One of the first projects of the Future Homemakers Club was the making of quilted skirts. At Christmas time the girls made toy animals in conjunction with the Junior Red Cross.

One of the smaller organizations, the Stamp Club, met with the sponsor, Miss Bergmark. The members discussed the current issues of stamps, discovered how to obtain new stamps, and traded stamps among themselves. By the end of the year, they had made many valuable additions to their collections.

The Barnstormers, under the direction of Miss Burnite, had a busy year, their agenda consisting of various projects. During the Christmas season, the group presented a dramatic production for patients of St. Margaret's Hospital. Later in the year, the club members concentrated on staging scenes from famous plays of well-known dramatists, such as Shakespeare.

Mr. White's dramatic club, the Encores, contributed to the entertainment of the student body on several occasions. They presented two assemblies, "Life of the Party" and "A-Feudin' Over Yonder."

The Debate Club and Debate Team, directed by Mr. Fritz, had a very successful year. The year's topic dealt with federal aid to education. Shaler and Oakmont High School students were among those against whom our debators competed. The club sponsored the debate between the teams of the University of Pittsburgh and Cornell University. This debate was held on March 23; the topic concerned the abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee. The debate was won by Pitt.

earbook Contest

Winning the "name-your-yearbook" contest was ue Eckler with her entry "Renard." This year's ysterical staff was faced with many obstacles which ey met (in one way or another). The advisers— iss Lutz, Miss D'Ascenzo, Mr. Gerhart, and Mr. assalsky, were patient and helpful. A great deal time and effort was spent by everyone to produce is year's book. Judy Aufderheide, and Judy Trout, ough not editors, were of great assistance to the orts section. Everyone found there was more to is job than just looking at pictures and putting em directly on the pages. A path was worn into e hallway floor, between Room 222 and the office frantic editors seeking picture identification. eshman teachers were tracked down for their lp in identifying our largest segment of the stu- nt body. A despairing cry went up for pictures. is demand resulted in a contest which was won Bob Young, whose winning picture appears on ge 33.

The 1962 Renard contains the first graduation and om pictures and this accounts for the late delivery the book.

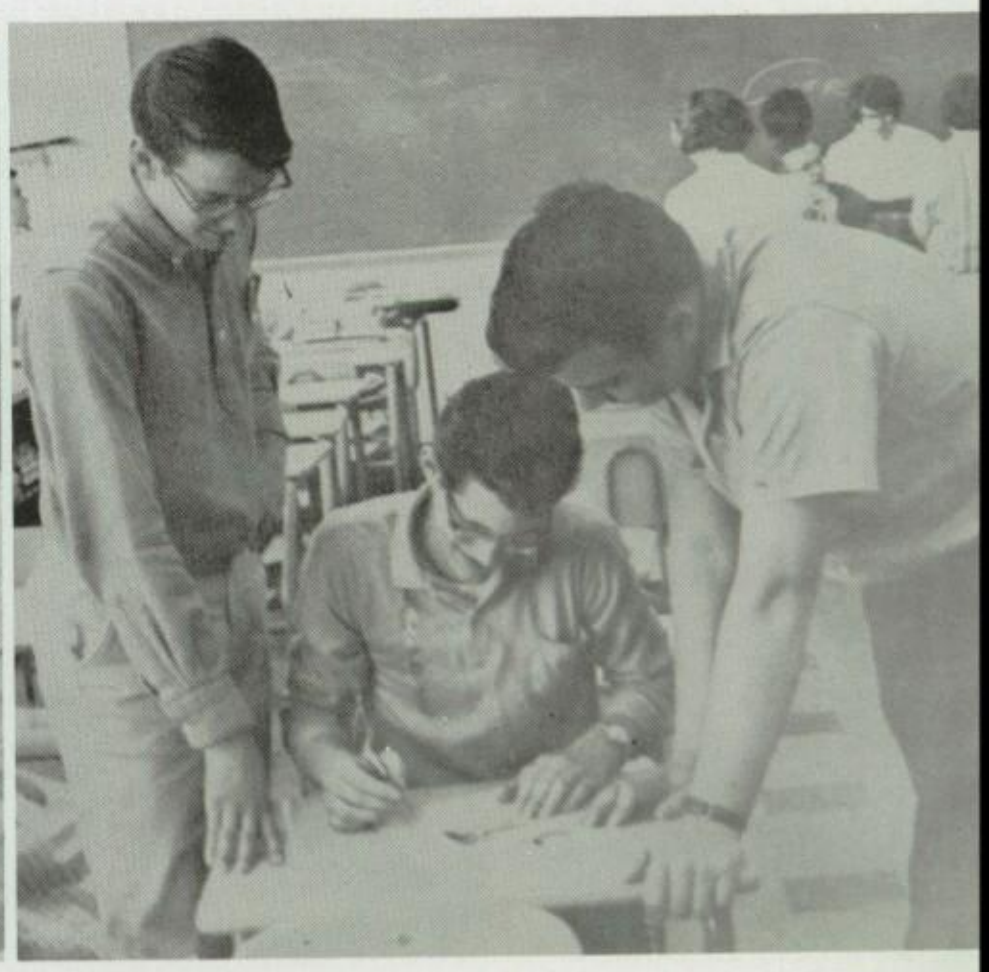
"Only four columns more to write before we go to press!"

"We must have used over twenty feet of film covering the faculty game."



The journalism class, known in school as the Inkspots, helped with the publication and proofreading of the paper.

Enterprising Editions

It was the job of the Brigadier staff and the Inkpots to put out your newspaper, the Brigadier. The nkspots met each week and were given assignments. They, in turn, could assign stories to students who vere capable and willing to write them. Some people ad the same "beat," which means covering a regular olumn, such as Senior News, for each edition. Every wo weeks, the editor read and approved or rejected ne stories and handed them on to the page editor to e positioned on their particular page. The paper asn't all work though. Mr. Parsons, newspaper spon-or, took the staff, the Inkspots, and the Journalism ass to visit the Pittsburgh Press.

Mr. Stillwagon was the sponsor of five freshman oys who met each week to discuss World Affairs. ney debated such topics as the effects of Commun-m on The Free World, space achievements, and olitics. The group viewed films on current happen-gs in the world. They planned to visit the National-y Rooms at Pitt and invited speakers to their meet-gs.

epiction and Decoration

With so many new faces in the halls of the school, an "icebreaker" was needed. A Get Acquainted Dance was held by the Student Council for that purpose. This dance helped us to acquire many new friends before the evening's end. The annual football dance, sponsored by the Pep Club, was held in November as a sock hop in the gym. Paper cut-outs of the entire football team and huge megaphones represented the boys and the cheerleaders. The decorations and records played by the cheerleaders provided a memorable evening. Midwinter fun was the Christmas Dance sponsored by the senior class. Later in the year the Rifle Club, directed by Miss McCrum, presented the Sadie Hawkins sock hop. This dance was one of the most successful of the year, for the girls did the asking. With the many colorful decorations and imaginative costumes worn by the students, the Sadie Hawkins Dance was indeed the most popular event. The Renard staff sponsored the Halloween Dance in October, entitled The Witches' Wobble, with Martha Redpath serving refreshments.

This motley group gives a sample of the colorful costumes worn to the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

One of the main activities for the Y-Teen group was a trip to the Harmarville Rehabilitation Center.

Making Friends

The Future Nurses Club attended the state-wide convention of future nurses, sold their handiwork at Christmas time, sold candy and donated the proceeds to a needy family, presented the seniors going into nurses' training with bandage scissors, began a scholarship fund, helped provide glasses for two students, and visited hospitals.

The Camera Club met every other week with Mr. DeWald. The members learned to take good pictures. They were fortunate to have had the use of the high school dark room to develop their pictures.

The Jr. Red Cross planned many of its activities in conjunction with the Future Nurses Club. They also took a group of orphans to the zoo and held a bake sale. Cooperating with the Jr. Red Cross were the homemaking and art departments and the geometry classes.

The large number of students who joined the Rifle Club were separated into old and new members. With the completion of the rifle range in April, they were able to practice in the school. The club sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Amateur Athletes

Everyone at Fox Chapel enjoyed sports activities. This was evident by the number of students on athletic teams. Those athletes who played well enough to earn a letter became members of the Varsity Club. Their duties as members included the selling of refreshments in the student lounge during home basketball games as well as acting as ushers at these games.

Besides in teams, many students participated in club activities. The Gymnastics Club presented a wrestling assembly to the student body. The girls' and boys' swimming clubs worked hard for their Red Cross Life Saving Certificates, which were certainly earned.

Yes, it was a busy year for all sports-minded enthusiasts, a busy year filled with many rewarding hours.

Centered in Science

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Edger, had a very busy year. There were several programs which featured guest speakers from such places as The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. Also during meetings the club saw films on varying subjects and observed lab demonstrations. The club's main project was the building of a robot, "Max, the Mechanical Man," which they entered in the Science Contest at Buhl Planetarium. "Max" received an honorable mention.

Nature Club, under the direction of Miss Frey, participated in numerous activities and projects. The group banded birds and on field trips visited such interesting spots as the King estate, Schenley Park, and Pymatuning. In the spring several members entered the annual Nature Contest at Carnegie Museum.

Meetings of the Math Club were made interesting by explanations and examples of recreational math by the club sponsor, Mr. Hopkins.

The Biology Club, which was guided by Mr. Lennox, worked on projects according to individual interests. As one project they labeled the trees and shrubs around the school. The programs were full of films, demonstrations, and lectures. Biology Club worked closely with Nature Club, but members concentrated primarily on individual work.

Creativeness and Culture

The Art Club, sponsored by Mrs. Rozewki, supplied all the creative art that our chool needs. They created posters for our ctivities and scenery for our plays and asemblies. The club made decorative favors or hospitals at Christmas as a service projct. Prominent Pittsburgh artists' paintings vere on display through the efforts of this lub.

The Commercial Club, sponsored by Miss lennon and Miss Shepler, was active all ear. They organized panel discussions and kits to stress the advantages of good groomng and to reveal their on-the-job duties. he club illustrated these topics with bulletin oards and displays.

The French Club originated several aucons. Items for sale included a complete rench dinner and an automobile crankhaft and were contributed by the students. Ir. Cousins officiated as a suave French auconeer. The club used the returns to buy eproductions of French paintings and reordings of French songs.

The Latin Club and Miss Lutz made their nnual trip through Aspinwall, singing hristmas carols in Latin. They painted a ural which depicted the interior of a Roman ouse. The year's highlight, however, was a anquet with Latin I students as obliging aves.

Chaperoning the Christmas Dance were Miss J. McCrum, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Boyle, Dr. Jack Roush, Mr. Allan Kennedy, Mr. Fred Hague, and Mr. Edward Boyle.

The dance committee, Jim Redenbaugh, Phil Manor, Dianne Sargent, and Gail Bryson, worked hard to make the dance a success.

Season Savored

Contributing their talents to the Christmas assembly were Dick ckardt, Dave Santoro, and Joe Altmar.

The Christmas dance ended the spirited season.

With Spirit

The presence of seasonal spirit was evident in ll of our Christmas activities. The Junior Red Cross showed the true meaning of the season
y sponsoring a drive to fill stockings for orphaned hildren. In each homeroom competition ran high oward the end of the drive. In the end, however,
Mr. Fritz's homeroom, 101, emerged the victor, illing 59 stockings.

The Speech Club, directed by Mr. White, and he chorus, under the direction of Mr. Fleming, ontributed to the entertainment of the student ody by presenting the Christmas assembly, en-tled "Musical Christmas Cards." The Christmas cenes were pantomimed by Speech Club memers as the chorus sang.

Completing the holiday events was the Christ-as dance, held on December 27. One of the hights of the evening was a buffet style supper erved in the joyful atmosphere of the evening.
ven the snowy roads did not keep the student ody from attending the dance and sharing the ys of the holiday. Yes, Christmas was a happy me at Fox Chapel High School.

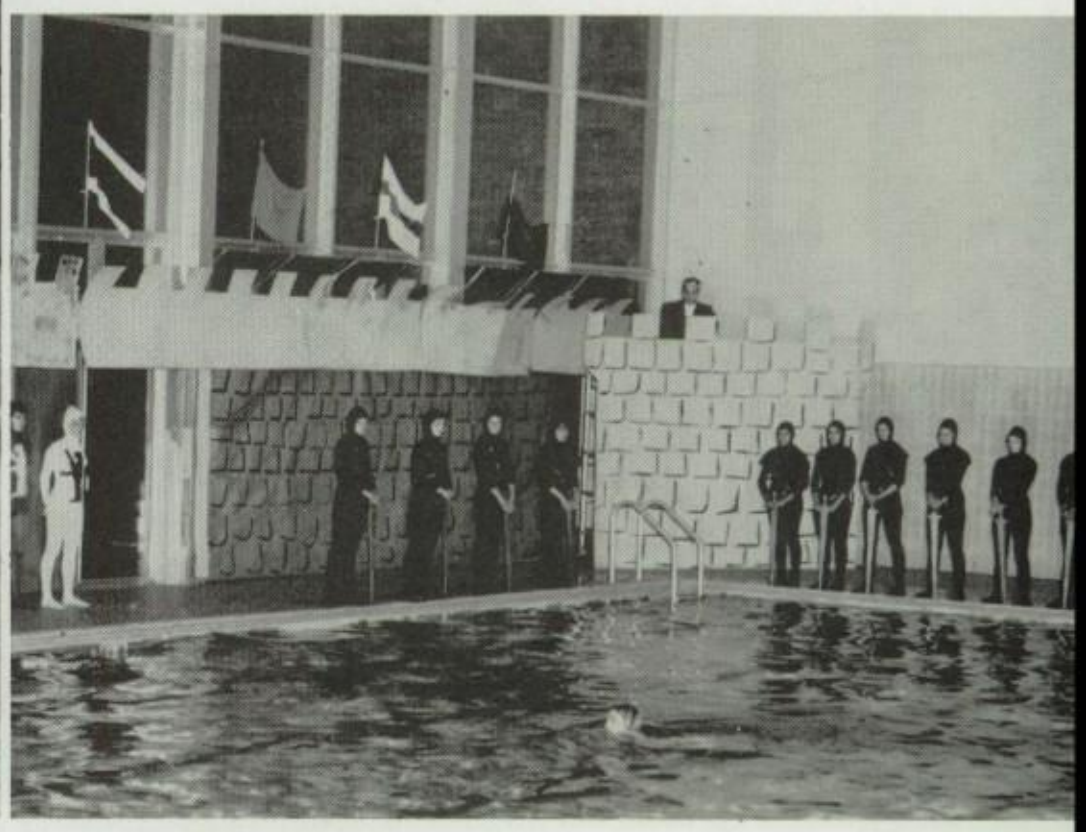
Social living class helped brighten the school.

King Arthur's Court at "Camelot" was the center of the Water Show.

Spring Was Sprinkled

The ladies of the court showed off their aquatic skills and colorful costumes.

The water show was based on the play "Camelot."



The annual Latin II banquet was held in the high school cafeteria.

Jim Redenbaugh and Karen Goshorn were presented their Kiwanis watches at the Awards Assembly.

With Spectaculars

The Choral Assembly featured the combined voices of both adult and student choruses.

Evening of Pleasure

Wildwood Country Club was the scene of the Junior-Senior Prom, held on June 1. The prom, which was Fox Chapel's first, proved to be a big success. It was, more or less, the farewell gift of the junior class to the senior class, for the juniors paid for and arranged the dance. Miss McCrum greeted the students and their dates as they arrived and gave them red and white memory books to be passed around and signed. Music was provided by Bill LeRoy and his orchestra.

After the prom, most couples went to one or more of the many parties or to one of the evening spots in the area.

AUTOGRAPHS

Was it that week before Commencement,
Or while I sat in the hot white sun,
A prickle of sweat
Under the red commencement gown,
Or in those few empty days at home?
Anyway,
All at once I knew a little bit about why
I was out from under the suffocating mass of knowledge;
There was a direction to go,
A way to do it, and I knew the way.
I did know, I had learned.
There was the door, the handle to turn, the latch to lift—
And all those years I had been finding,
Acquiring, filling my pockets with keys.
Already the doors are opening. Through how many shall I finally pass?

Sincere appreciation and thanks for their assistance in the publication of this annual are extended to:

Miss Lutz, Miss D'Ascenzo, Mr. Gerhart, and Mr. Massalsky from whose advice we benefited

The typists who gave freely of their time

Businessmen and patrons of the community and all other individuals who supported the yearbook

Hill's Studio who, with camera in hand, was always "at the right place at the right time"

The faculty and administration for their cooperation and understanding

The student body for their support of and faith in our publication

Mr. Gene Burke who helped us assemble our book

And all others who helped in any way

Sincerely
